

Fellowes Launches New 65W Power Modules Within FlexCharge™ Series, Designed to Meet the Demands of Modern Tech

Itasca, IL—[August 27, 2025] — Fellowes Contract Interiors, a global leader in workspace solutions, is pleased to announce the launch of new 65W Power Modules within the FlexCharge™ Series, featuring PD 3.0 technology. This next-generation upgrade meets the growing power needs of modern professionals, delivering reliable, high-output charging that supports everything from phones to full-size laptops via a USB-C port.

As mobile work and power-hungry devices become the norm, the FlexCharge Series responds with intelligently designed, desk-mounted modules that go beyond typical power strips. Whether integrated into a workstation or mounted beneath a worksurface, the new 65W modules ensure users have powerful, efficient access to AC and USB charging wherever they work.

Unlike many underpowered USB-C ports, Fellowes' upgraded modules deliver up to 65 watts of total power, capable of charging laptops through the USB-C port at 20V/3.25A. That means no more slow charging or scrambling for bulky adapters—just efficient power where and when you need it.

The expanded 65W FlexCharge™ line includes:

- FlexCharge™ 3C-65W and FlexCharge™ 4C-65W — One and two AC outlets, USB-A, USB-C; a compact solution for any desk.
- FlexCharge™ 4CX-65W — Combines desktop power and an under-desk 6-outlet power strip with USB-A and USB-C; ideal for tech-intensive environments
- FlexCharge™ Power Strip — 6 AC outlets with built-in surge protection, easy to mount or manage with cable accessories

All units include a universal mounting bracket that supports desk clamp, grommet, or under-surface installations, and are available in black finishes with the 3C, 4C, and 4CX also available in white.

By combining quick-charge USB-A and USB-C power, FlexCharge helps reduce desk clutter while delivering power without limitations.

Both finishes of the new enhanced FlexCharge series are available to ship in 48 hours. The product is backed by Fellowes' industry-leading ten-year warranty for power solutions.
